The Global MBA program is the flagship program of the Graduate School of Business Seoul National University. Targeting business professionals seeking global perspectives and management skills, the program is taught entirely in English. Students from different countries and cultures discuss and learn global practices and grow to be prominent business leaders in the global setting.

PROGRAM STRUCTURE
Full-time: 1.5 academic year running from mid-August through February

INSTRUCTION LANGUAGE
Korean and English

The SNU MBA program focuses on the real business practices and business environment that managers deal with in Korean corporations. Students can opt for a track among Finance, Marketing, and Management, customizing their MBA education to the personal needs and goals. SNU faculty, who are not only devoted teachers but also innovative professionals renowned for their pioneering research and contributions to business management, teach the core courses.
18-month Intensive Program

Composed of four terms with each term running 12 weeks, SNU GSB offers intensive MBA programs that allow you to receive a MBA degree in a relatively short period of study. This system is economical, allowing you to master the content of two-year long program in only 18 months.

Practically-oriented Education

The faculty members of SNU GSB have accumulated extensive experience in executive education by teaching in programs such as the Advanced Management Program, the Advanced Banking Program, the CFO Strategy Program and the other customized education programs that cater to the specific needs of major Korean firms.

Outstanding Faculty

SNU faculty members are different. Not only do they have teaching experience in MBA programs in top overseas universities such as MIT, Columbia, Cornell, Michigan, NYU, Carnegie Mellon, and the London Business School, but they are also credited annually with the highest course evaluation ratings at SNU. Besides, SNU faculty members are renowned for their in-depth research and regularly have their works published in leading academic journals.

Global Network

SNU GSB is continually expanding its partnership with major business schools abroad. Yale University, Duke University, ESSEC, Peking University and Hitotsubashi University have signed an agreement for Dual Degree program. Student Exchange Program is also an attractive option for students interested in expanding their global insights. Over 20 top-tier business schools from 14 countries are on the list of the partner schools for student exchange program. Student can choose either spring or fall term to participate in the student exchange program, and get transferred credits obtained from the exchange term. Besides, SNU GSB is the only member in Korea invited to the Global Network of Advanced Management, which is a transnational network of 30 distinguished business schools worldwide, launched by Yale School of Management. This global network provides various learning channels including online courses, network weeks, and case competitions so that students can learn from renowned faculty wherever they are in the world, and become highly competitive in the global job market with extensive international professional experience.

Power of Alumni Networks

Since 1946, the College of Business Administration has been producing influential leaders for the business, academic, and political fields in Korea. SNU GSB community connects 1,700 MBA alumni to more than 5,000 AMP alumni (Advanced Management Program) who remain closely engaged with current students, even extending to our parent university’s 8,000 undergraduate alumni. Being a part of SNU GSB introduces students to participate in the building of active connections between people, ideas, and resources, giving an immediate access to the most prominent leaders in Korea.

SNU GSB provides career services to help students fulfill their career aspirations. This process starts with one-on-one interview with each student to assess the strengths, weaknesses, and industry and career preferences of each. At an early stage of MBA, students are to investigate their previous experiences, interests, skills, and values, and then create their career plan. Furthermore, a resume book is published and distributed to our target company list before the start of campus recruitment. This gives students the added benefit of gaining exposure to influential executives for employment opportunities.

Global Network Week
The Global Network for Advanced Management (GNAM), launched by Yale School of Management, was founded on the premise that enterprises need leaders who understand how markets and organizations work in increasingly diverse and complex contexts. The network includes 30 business schools worldwide, and SNU is the only member school in Korea invited to the GNAM.

Global Network Week is a one week intensive course operated by the GNAM, enables MBA students and faculty to pursue intensive study at another network school, leveraging the expertise, people, programs, and perspective of a partner school. Alongside their counterparts from elsewhere in the network, students attend classes, tour local businesses, and meet with experts focused on current business problems. MBA students actively connect, communicate, and share ideas on challenging business issues during GNAM weeks with international students from diverse regions and cultures.
